THREE YEARS OF GOOD NEIGHBORS BHARAT (ACHCHHE PADOSI)

FOUNDATION DAY MARKS THREE YEARS
OF COMMUNITY ACTION, SERVICE AND GROWING INSTITUTIONAL STRENGTH

 8 August 2026 |  New Delhi

Three years of working alongside children, young people and communities marked an important milestone for Good Neighbors Bharat (Achchhe Padosi) on 8 August 2026, as the organisation celebrated its 3rd Foundation Day.

The occasion provided an opportunity to reflect on the organisation's journey and the work undertaken across child well-being, education, health, child protection, youth development, livelihoods, environmental awareness and community engagement.

The Foundation Day was marked not simply as an anniversary, but as an opportunity to reaffirm the organisation's commitment to community service. A blood donation camp was organised as part of the celebrations, connecting the milestone with a practical contribution to community health.

August also brought an important institutional development: Good Neighbors Bharat (Achchhe Padosi) received its CSR-1 registration, strengthening its readiness to engage with corporate CSR partners and explore future development partnerships.

Together, these milestones reflect an organisation entering its fourth year with continued emphasis on community action, programme development and institutional strengthening.

BLOOD DONATION CAMP MARKS THE 3RD FOUNDATION DAY

 8 August 2026 |  New Delhi

Good Neighbors Bharat (Achche Padosi) marked its 3rd Foundation Day with a blood donation camp, turning the annual anniversary into an opportunity for community service.

Blood donation is a direct form of community participation that can support patients requiring transfusions during medical treatment, surgeries, emergencies and other critical situations.

The initiative brought a public-health dimension to the Foundation Day celebrations and encouraged the spirit of giving that lies at the heart of community engagement.

A total of 30 units of blood were donated during the camp

The activity also reflected the organisation's approach to celebrating institutional milestones — by connecting them with actions that can contribute to the wider community.

WHY IT MATTERED

The blood donation camp transformed the Foundation Day from an organisational milestone into an opportunity for people to contribute directly towards a wider social need.

GOOD NEIGHBORS BHARAT (ACHCHE PADOSI)

RECEIVES CSR-1 REGISTRATION

August marked another significant milestone with Good Neighbors Bharat (Achche Padosi) receiving its CSR-1 registration.

The registration strengthens the organisation's formal readiness to engage with the corporate social responsibility ecosystem and pursue potential CSR partnerships.

For a growing organisation, institutional systems and regulatory companies form an important foundation for sustainable programme development. The registration provides an additional platform for Good Neighbors Bharat to explore collaborations with corporate partners across areas such as education, child well-being, health, youth development and community development.

August was a month of active engagement across schools and communities, with programmes creating opportunities for children and young people to learn, participate and express themselves. Across the month, 2,082 beneficiaries were reached, alongside 107 youth engagements through Kaushal Connect.

A key highlight was the APSF Foundation Day celebration, which brought children and young people together through a community-focused event. The celebration combined participation with creative expression, including dance performances and a cake-cutting ceremony, creating a space where young participants could celebrate, connect and showcase their talents.

The Global Youth Project further strengthened youth participation through creative and interactive activities. Performances and exhibitions provided young people with opportunities to demonstrate their skills, build confidence and engage with their peers.

Across the month, 14 awareness sessions and 9 Kaushal Connect awareness sessions were reported, covering 8 schools and communities, including 5 government schools in Koduru. These engagements reflect the continued effort to take learning and awareness beyond the classroom and create meaningful spaces for children and youth to participate.

Together, August's activities demonstrated a simple but powerful approach: when young people are given opportunities to participate, express themselves and learn, they become active contributors to their communities.

MAKING MENSTRUAL HEALTH A CONVERSATION

MENSTRUAL HEALTH AND HYGIENE AWARENESS

Menstrual health and hygiene remained an important area of child-focused programming during August through Bright Bloom activities conducted across Delhi communities.

Sessions were conducted in Jahangir Puri, Mangolpuri and Uttam Nagar, creating structured spaces for participants to learn about menstrual health, hygiene practices and related concerns.

Menstrual health education is important not only for physical well-being but also for helping girls and adolescents approach menstruation with greater awareness, confidence and dignity.

The sessions encouraged participants to discuss questions related to hygiene and menstrual health while strengthening access to age-appropriate information.

BUILDING AWARENESS AROUND CHILD SAFETY AND RIGHTS

BAL SRAKSHAN ORIENTATIONS STRENGTHEN CHILD PROTECTION AWARENESS

Alongside health-focused programming, Bal SrakshanChild Protection orientations were conducted across community locations during August. The sessions focused on strengthening children's awareness around safety, protection and their rights, creating opportunities for participants to understand issues that can affect their well-being and learn about the importance of seeking help when faced with unsafe situations. Child protection awareness is an important component of creating safer environments for children. Awareness sessions can help children recognise inappropriate or unsafe situations, understand that they have rights and identify trusted adults or support systems they can approach. The sessions encouraged participants to discuss questions related to hygiene and menstrual health while strengthening access to age appropriate information.

Green Initiative Takes Environmental Awareness to Schools and Communities

Environmental awareness remained a key focus through the Green Initiative in August, as activities reached children across both school and community settings in Jahangir Puri.

The month's engagements began on 5 August at Government Boys Senior Secondary School, K Block, Jahangir Puri, where an activity was planned to engage 50 students. The initiative then extended into the community, with dedicated sessions conducted with girls' groups on 18, 21 and 25 August.

Continuing the momentum, an activity on 20 August engaged a further 52 children, creating another opportunity for young participants to explore environmental concerns and reflect on their role in creating cleaner and healthier surroundings.

By taking the conversation beyond the classroom and into community spaces, the Green Initiative is helping children and young people understand that environmental action begins with everyday choices. The August activities reinforced a simple but important message: small individual actions, when taken together, can contribute to meaningful change in the communities we live in.

KAUSHAL CONNECT

107 YOUNG PEOPLE ENGAGED THROUGH CAREER AND SKILLS AWARENESS

During August, Kaushal Connect reached 107 youth beneficiaries through nine awareness sessions in Dwarka Mor and Kakrola Village.

The sessions addressed issues relevant to young people's education, employment and future livelihoods, including:

The programme also undertook placement-industry linkage work in Janakpuri, creating a connection between youth development activities and potential employment opportunities. In addition, document collection began for shortlisted beneficiaries for advanced-level courses, supporting the next stage of training and enrolment.

A World Youth Day activity brought together 48 beneficiaries in Dilsad Colony on 12 August.

The activity formed part of the wider youth engagement undertaken during August and provided an opportunity to connect a global youth-focused observance with local community participation.

CHILD WELL BEING SOUTH INDIA

Promoting the safety, health and overall well-being of children remained a key focus of the Child Well Being – South India initiative during August. Through a combination of child-led platforms, health interventions and awareness activities, the programme created multiple opportunities for children to learn, participate and speak about issues that affect their everyday lives.

The month saw strong engagement across Child Parliaments, Health Camps, Menstrual Health and Hygiene (MHM) awareness sessions, Hygiene Kit Support and Digital Awareness activities, together recording more than 1,300 participant engagements.

Child Parliaments provided children with a platform to express their views and participate in discussions, while health camps and MHM awareness sessions helped strengthen knowledge around health, hygiene and personal well-being. Hygiene support further complemented these efforts by helping children access essential hygiene materials. A strong emphasis was also placed on child protection awareness, encouraging children to understand safety, recognise potentially unsafe situations and become more aware of their rights and available support systems.

Together, these interventions reflect a holistic approach to child well-being—one that goes beyond immediate needs to equip children with knowledge, confidence and awareness to make safer and healthier choices.

AUGUST IN PERSPECTIVE

THREE YEARS COMPLETED. THE WORK CONTINUES.

August brought together an important combination of institutional milestones and continued field-level engagement for Good Neighbors Bharat (Aachhe Padosi).

The organisation's 3rd Foundation Day marked three years of work with children, young people and communities. The accompanying blood donation camp turned the anniversary into an opportunity for community service, while the receipt of CSR-1 registration strengthened the organisation's institutional platform for future engagement with corporate partners.

Across communities, programme teams continued to work on issues affecting children and young people from menstrual health and child protection to environmental awareness, career development and education planning.

The month also demonstrated the importance of evidence in programme development. The baseline survey across five government schools in Koduru provides information that can help shape future education interventions, while youth-focused activities continued to connect young people with knowledge and potential pathways towards employment and livelihoods.

Three years represent an important foundation. The next phase will build on that foundation through stronger programmes, meaningful partnerships and continued engagement with the communities at the centre of the organisation's work.
